

Acknowledgements VII
List of Figures and Tables VIII
Notes on Contributors IX

- 1 Sufferers, Specialists, Spaces and Society: Historical Approaches to Crises of the Mind 1
Tuomas Laine-Frigren, Markku Hokkanen and Jari Eilola

PART 1

Preclinical Definitions of Madness

- 2 Medical Knowledge of Mental Disorders and Their Cure in Latin and Vernacular Culture in Later Medieval Europe 39
Susanna Niiranen
- 3 Defining and Treating Madness in Local Communities of Early Modern
Finland 69
Jari Eilola
- 4 Melancholy, Race and Slavery in the Early Modern Southern Atlantic
World 88
Kalle Kananaja

PART 2

Modernisation and Crises of Mind: Changing Spaces, Voices and Sources

- 5 Hospitalised: Patients' Voices in 19th-Century Finnish Newspapers 115
Kirsi Tuohela
- 6 Despair in Finnish: Consultation by Correspondence in Fin-de-Siècle
Finland 139
Anssi Halmesvirta

- 7 In the Gray Area: Patient Records, Somatic Treatments and the History of Psychiatry in Denmark, 1936–1956 163
Jesper Vaczy Kragh
- 8 Treatment and Rehabilitation: Patients at Work in Finnish Mental Institutions 196
Anu Rissanen

PART 3

Encountering Madness in the Peripheries

- 9 Emotionally Neglected or Deviant? Treating Childhood Neuroses in Communist Hungary during the Early 1960s 225
Tuomas Laine-Frigren
- 10 Psychiatry at the Periphery: the Case of Princely India, c. 1830–1900 255
Waltraud Ernst
- 11 'Madness', Emotions and Loss of Control in a Colonial Frontier: Methodological Challenges of Crises of Mind 277
Markku Hokkanen

Index 297