

Introduction	7
Henk de Regt and Chunglin Kwa
Filosofie van wetenschap en technologie: Wat? Hoe? Waarom?	19
Henk de Regt
Niet-lokale betekenis en surplusbetekenis van theoretische begrippen	29
Kai Eigner
Scientific organisations as social movements: reflections on how social theory can inform the philosophy of science	39
Sabina Leonelli
The ethos of scientific advice: a pragmatist approach to uncertainty and ignorance in science and public policy	53
Arthur C. Petersen
Heisenbergs reinterpretation of complementarity and the structure of reality ..	63
Makoto Katsumori
Intellectueel eigendom: een oxymoron?	77
Pieter Pekelharing
De choreometrie van universiteit-industrie-overheidsrelaties: een dans rond de mousse-aux-trois-chocolats	85
Loet Leydesdorff
Why medicine is different.....	89
James Robert Brown
The “capitalization of the intellect”: did Father Kwant anticipate the commodification thesis?	101
Henk van den Belt
Re-appropriating the masters tools: commodification and neo-liberalism in the constitution of ‘the next left’	113
Steve Fuller
A form for experimental inquiry: aphorism and metaphor as heuristic tools ...	127
Astrid Schwarz
Technoscience at the fork.....	139
Andrew Feenberg

Successful science in a limited world: a Tractarian perspective on consensus in science	153
Alfred Nordmann
Modern science and technology: two sides of a coin	167
Peter Kroes
On the science-technology relationship: a historical view	175
Laszlo Ropolyi
On idealist foundations of reality: the forgotten perspectives of neo-Kantianism	189
Christian Krijnen
Doesn't the normal carbon atom really and truly have six electrons? On "conceptual, propositional and theoretical realizations"	203
Peter P. Kirschenmann
Decommodification of learning: John Dewey and Ivan Illich in search of an education for the future	217
Angela Roothaan
Aspects of the philosophy of research: the field of management and organization	229
Frits Schipper
List of contributors	243